

Worksheet for Mapping Entrepreneur Resources

Directions: List as many entrepreneur support and resource providers serving your community as you can identify. Remember that great resources may be located somewhere else but still serve your area. Be creative and think about a wide range of possible resources from local business service providers to public programs and individuals who might be great mentors.

Possible Resource	Contact Name	How Can They Help?

Confidentiality: When we are talking about people and their organizations, we are stepping into their lives with the hope that we can engage them in providing assistance. Be respectful of the information you gather. Confidentiality, keeping this information within your team, is very important. Make a personal pledge not to share this information outside your team.
